Reflexive and Intensive Pronouns for Middle School: A Complete Guide

Understanding language is like unlocking a secret code ? and when it comes to reflexive and intensive pronouns, knowing how to use them correctly can make your writing clearer and more powerful. For middle school students, mastering these pronouns is an essential step in developing strong grammar skills. Whether you're crafting a story, writing an essay, or just trying to get your point across, understanding reflexive and intensive pronouns will help you communicate more effectively. In this guide, we'll explore what these pronouns are, how they differ, and how to use them confidently in your writing.

What Are Reflexive and Intensive Pronouns?

Before diving into the details, let's define the two types of pronouns:

- Reflexive Pronouns: These are used when the subject and the object of a sentence are the same person or thing. They reflect back to the subject.
- Intensive Pronouns: These emphasize or intensify the subject of the sentence. They are used to add emphasis and are usually placed right after the noun or pronoun they emphasize.

The Basics of Reflexive Pronouns

Reflexive pronouns are words like myself, yourself, himself, herself, itself, ourselves, yourselves, and themselves. They always refer back to a noun or pronoun earlier in the sentence and are necessary when the action of the verb is performed by the subject on itself.

Examples of reflexive pronouns in sentences:

- I taught myself how to play the guitar.

- She hurt herself while doing gymnastics.
- The cat cleaned itself after eating.

Key points about reflexive pronouns:

- They are used when the subject and the object are the same person or thing.
- They are essential for the sentence to make sense in many cases.
- They often appear after verbs like buy, enjoy, prepare, etc., when the action is directed back to the subject.

The Role of Intensive Pronouns

Intensive pronouns are similar in form to reflexive pronouns but serve a different purpose: emphasizing the subject. They are used to add emphasis and are not necessary for the sentence to be grammatically correct.

Examples of intensive pronouns in sentences:

- I myself completed the project.
- The mayor herself announced the new policy.
- They themselves built the treehouse.

Key points about intensive pronouns:

- They are used to emphasize the subject.
- They are not essential to the sentence ? removing them usually doesn't change the meaning.
- They are placed immediately after the noun or pronoun they emphasize.

How to Distinguish Between Reflexive and Intensive Pronouns

While reflexive and intensive pronouns look alike, their functions are quite different. Here are some tips to tell them apart:

Feature	Reflexive Pronouns	Intensive Pronouns
---------	--------------------	--------------------

-----	-----	-----
-------	-------	-------

Function	Reflects the action back on the subject	Adds emphasis to the subject
----------	---	------------------------------

| Necessary in sentence? | Usually yes (if reflexive) | Usually no (if intensive) |

| Placement | Usually after the verb or as the object | Immediately after the noun/pronoun being emphasized |

| Example | She hurt herself. | The president herself attended the meeting. |

Common Mistakes to Avoid

Even native speakers sometimes confuse these pronouns. Here are some common errors and how to avoid them:

- Using reflexive pronouns when not needed:
 - Incorrect: I saw myself in the mirror. (unless you are talking about seeing your reflection)
 - Correct: I saw my reflection in the mirror. (if you mean you saw your reflection, it's correct)
- Using intensive pronouns in place of reflexive pronouns:
 - Incorrect: Please tell John himself about the meeting. (This emphasizes John unnecessarily)
 - Correct: Please tell John about the meeting. (no need for emphasis)
- Forgetting to include the reflexive pronoun when needed:
 - Incorrect: She hurt himself during the race. (should be she hurt herself)
 - Correct: She hurt herself during the race.

Practice Exercises

- Fill in the blank with the correct reflexive or intensive pronoun:
 - I cooked dinner _____.
 - The students _____ prepared for the test.

- The mayor _____ made the speech.
- She hurt _____ while skateboarding.
- We _____ decided to go to the park.

- Choose whether the sentence needs a reflexive or intensive pronoun:
 - The teacher (herself / herself) explained the lesson thoroughly.
 - I bought _____ a new book.
 - The team (itself / itself) won the championship.
 - Please look at _____ in the mirror.
 - They (themselves / themselves) completed the project on time.

Tips for Using Reflexive and Intensive Pronouns

- Remember that reflexive pronouns are necessary when the subject performs an action on itself.
- Use intensive pronouns to add emphasis, but never overuse them ? they're meant for emphasis, not regular sentence structure.
- Place intensive pronouns immediately after the noun or pronoun they emphasize.
- Never use reflexive or intensive pronouns where a simple noun or pronoun will do. For example, don't say: John hurt himself himself. It should be just John hurt himself.

Summary: Key Takeaways

- Reflexive pronouns reflect back to the subject and are often necessary in a sentence.
- Intensive pronouns emphasize the subject and are used for effect.
- Both types of pronouns are formed from the personal pronouns ? myself, yourself, himself, herself, itself, ourselves, yourselves, themselves.
- Correct usage involves understanding their functions and placement within sentences.

Keep practicing with exercises and real-world examples, and soon you'll be confidently using these pronouns like a pro!
